

11 Jan 82

- ( ) Since DIA continues to receive unsolicited data from people who may have psychic aptitude, an attempt to assess reliability of such data is accumulated to date is underway. Feedback on specific data already provided will greatly assist in this evaluation. It may be possible that the integrated data may yield to better, more reliable interpretations. Possible new insights and interpretations will be provided to the field for their consideration in the event the data, as a whole, might be useful.